

From EJAF: 'A Must Read'

'While the TV series #ItsASin has brought the horrifying reality of an overlooked pandemic to a new audience, this profoundly poignant and intimate memoir 'Living and a Loving in the Age of AIDS' tells of this devoted couples' journey through the horrors and devastating impact of #HIV/#AIDS with relevant and authentic insight.

Written with a lightness of touch and a positive spirit, Derek Frost tells his story, his views and above all the lessons he learned. As young men, he and Jeremy Norman, pivotal figures in British gay history, dealt with Jeremy's HIV diagnosis and they share their experiences with candid eloquence to remind us of the stark realities which killed so many young active vibrant gay men in their community' - Johnny Bergius
